The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 5-8 and 21 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Knowlton for reasons of record.

Knowlton discloses soybean oil having high oxidative stability. At column 5, lines 17-30, utility of the oil in confectionery foods is disclosed. At column 11, lines 48-52, the addition of 30 ppm citric acid is shown and at column 12, lines 18-24, the addition of 50 ppm citric acid is shown. Further at column 11, lines 44-51, deodorization of the oil is stated to occur after the addition of organic acid and at 100 C, with vacuum. Although drying is not specifically mentioned, one of ordinary skill in the art would expect the treatment of the oil would dry it. It is appreciated that the vacuum conditions are not the same but one of ordinary skill in the art would expect the speed of drying to vary with the extent of vacuum applied to the oil.

Applicant argues ascorbic acid but the claims permit the inclusion of citric acid. Applicant argues the citric acid is only mentioned in Knowlton. This is disagreed with as not above.

Applicant has amended the claims to include a wherein clause. This has been considered but does not overcome the rejection. No difference is seen between the fat produced by Knowlton and the fat of the claims. Both fats are produced by organic acid treatment, followed by heat treatment under vacuum. It is appreciated that Knowlton uses steam heat and applicant uses dry heat but no unobvious or unexpected result is seen from this treatment because both fats appear to be treated to enhance the oxidative stability.

Claims 9 and 16-25 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Knowlton as applied to claims 4-8 and 21 above, and further in view of Takeda for reasons of record.

Applicants' arguments are directed to the rejection over Knowlton, which was addressed above.

The rejection of the claims over Pires and Durmoulin as further evidenced by Lowe and in view of Takeda have been withdrawn for the reasons argued by applicant.

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
